U.W. Poet Wears Honor Modestly

Reds Trapped
By Detection
Of Khokhlov

By WILLIAM C. CURRY
Associated Press Staff

BERLIN, May 5—The Western powers reported sunday that the authorities in Russia had brought to trial a series of enemies of the soviet state.

The Russians said the men were members of a group of spies who tried to bring about the fall of the soviet government last winter and spring.

The government said the men had been caught in the act of trying to smuggle money and arms into the soviet capital.

The government said it was not yet clear whether the men were agents of the German government.

The government said the men had been caught in the act of
trying to smuggle money and
arms into the soviet capital.

The government said it was
not yet clear whether the men were agents of the German government.

The government said the men had been caught in the act of
trying to smuggle money and
arms into the soviet capital.

The government said it was
not yet clear whether the men were agents of the German government.

The government said the men had been caught in the act of
trying to smuggle money and
arms into the soviet capital.

The government said it was
not yet clear whether the men were agents of the German government.